Book of Remembrance

This Book of Remembrance is dedicated to our mothers and fathers, our husbands and wives, our brothers and sisters, our sons and daughters, whom God has taken from us; in loyalty to whom we would pledge to live as they would have us live—with God, with truth, and in the service of humankind.

The solemn call of this hour awakens memories of those beloved both long and newly gone from our mortal presence. They are near us now only in our hearts. Transfigured by memory, our dear ones stand again before us and we remember them with gratitude and name them with a benediction.

The meaning of Yizkor

The observance of the anniversary of a death goes back to Talmudic times or older. While customary to observe the day solemnly and to avoid feasting or celebration, Yizkor is a positive statement reaffirming faith in God and a pledge to keep the memory of departed loved ones in our hearts. The practice of lighting a candle, a symbol of faith and hope, in the home on the anniversary of the death is a universal one. The obligation to be present in the Synagogue to recite prayers on Yizkor is a religious duty.

The value of Yizkor is in the spiritual link between each of us and our departed. Reform Judaism sees in the Yizkor observance a moment of pause from the cares and anxieties of the world, when our family and friends live again in the communion of prayer. As we recite Kaddish, we gain strength and comfort as we praise God's name for the gift of their lives. Many at this time contribute to a worthy religious cause within the Temple, strengthening the work of our congregation. Thus we build a bridge between the land of the living and the land of eternal life.

The lesson of Memory

We record names in sacred places; we recall loved ones in hallowed moments. Memory, however, teaches us not only what to remember, but also what to forget: how to forget hates and hurts, how to forget the bumps and the bruises of life. Memory provides us with the joy of going on despite the heaviness of the heart.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures;

He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul;

He guideth me in straight paths for His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,

I will fear no evil,

For Thou art with me;

Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies;

Thou hast anointed my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life;

And I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

God hath not promised
Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
All our lives through;
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
Peace without pain.

Rest for the labor,
Light for the way,
Grace for the trials,
Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy,
Undying love.

*But God hath promised
Strength for the day,*

They laid down their lives for God and Country
